Zitat:This is predicated on successful clinical trial results by Histostem Korea for Male Pattern Baldness, Buerger's Disease and other conditions, whose repository of over 80,000 cord blood units has consistently met the rigorous standards of the Korean FDA. This has made Histostem Korea the largest repository of cord blood in the world, and one of the first to actually profit from sales of its own stem cell-derived products.

Ist da irgendwas im Busch von dem wir nichts wissen????Oder ist ist das dieselbe Firma wie Histogen???
