"Using emu oil in combination with topical minoxidil would seem to be an excellent idea in combating minoxidil's side effects. Second, as mentioned in the clinical study conducted at Auburn University, emu oil is 20 times more effective as a transdermal carrier than mineral oil. If used in conjunction with topical minoxidil, emu oil is very likely to enhance the penetration of minoxidil into the follicles. This will probably be better than using Minoxidil-Retin-A treatment since emu oil will probably increase minoxidil absorption without producing the same side effects as Retin-A."

Was meint ihr dazu?

Warum nicht einfach ausprobieren? Das klingt ja sehr interessant.

man kann emu oil nicht mit mineral oil (ein penetrationsblocker) im penetrationsverhalten vergleichen.....

vergleiche macht man mit andere natürlichen öle oder pg, somit sagt das gar nichts aus
